

Let users change background color

Contributed by Administrator
Thursday, 10 April 2008

You can use this code to let your users change the background color of your website. If you combine it with a cookie, their color choice can follow through the entire website.

Paste this code into the HEAD section of your HTML document.

```
function bgChange() {
    document.bgColor=document.getElementById("f").txt.value;
}
```